

Debt Arrangement and Attachment (Scotland) Act 2002 section 47(4)(g)

Important Notice

With these papers is a copy of an Exceptional Attachment Order made by the court.

It shall be regarded as a breach of an Exceptional Attachment Order if you, the debtor, or any other person who knows that the Exceptional Attachment Order has been made-

1. moves any article that forms part of the debtor's non-essential assets from the dwellinghouse in which it is kept, or
2. or for the debtor to sell, make a gift of or otherwise relinquish ownership of any such article, without the consent of the sheriff.

Any person who knows that an Exceptional Attachment Order has been made who wilfully damages or destroys any article(s) which forms part of the debtor's non-essential assets before an attachment is executed shall be regarded as acting in breach of the order.

If at any time after an Exceptional Attachment Order has been made, an article which forms part of the debtor's non-essential assets is stolen, the debtor shall give notice to the creditor, the officer of court (if known) and the sheriff who granted the order of that fact and of any related claim which the debtor makes, or intends to make, under a contract of insurance. Any failure by the debtor to give notice shall be regarded as a breach of the order.
