Summary

Introduction

The Scottish Court Service (SCS) has conducted satisfaction surveys with public and professional court users since 2005. This report presents the findings from the 2011 survey.

The survey is designed to derive a measure of court users' overall satisfaction with the services provided, and to collect data on satisfaction with individual service elements, including waiting times; comfort, cleanliness, and safety and security of the court building and facilities; information provided; and interaction with court staff.

As with previous sweeps of the survey, an exit survey of all users of all courts across the SCS estate was designed to canvass views on court facilities and the various services provided. Broad quotas were applied to ensure coverage of all user groups, however, interviewers based at the court invited people to take part as they left the court building on the basis that the next available person was approached. Data were collected by combining interviewer administered questionnaires and self-completion questionnaires.

The survey period covered nine weeks between May and July 2011 and a total of 64 courts were surveyed. This involved carrying out interviews at all 49 Sheriff Courts across the six sheriffdoms, the Court of Session, the three permanent locations of the High Court of Justiciary, and 11 Justice of the Peace Courts.

Sample Profile

In total, 2905 individuals took part in the survey, of which 76% were classified as non-professional users and 24% were attending court in their professional capacity on the day that they were surveyed.

Interviews were carried out in each of Scotland's six sheriffdoms and, for analysis purposes, the High Court and Court of Session were grouped together as if they were a seventh sheriffdom. The achieved sample was distributed as follows:

- Glasgow and Strathkelvin = 12%;
- Grampian, Highland and Islands = 17%;
- Lothian and Borders = 12%;
- North Strathclyde = 15%;
- South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway = 16%;
- Tayside, Central and Fife = 19%; and
- Court of Session and High Court = 9%.

Over half of the respondents were male (61%) and just over two thirds (67%) were between the ages of 16 and 44. The majority (87%) of respondents described themselves as White Scottish. Two per cent of respondents stated that they had a longstanding illness, disability or infirmity which meant that they required particular facilities when using public buildings.

Survey Results

Generally, high levels of satisfaction were reported with nearly all aspects of the service delivered by the SCS.

Attending Court

Nearly three quarters (72%) of respondents indicated that they had previously visited the court in which they were surveyed. Respondents were less likely to have previously visited the High Court and Court of Session (38%) compared to other sheriffdoms. Unsurprisingly, almost all Advocates, Solicitors and Solicitor Advocates (96%) and other professionals (95%) had previously visited the court in which they were surveyed, while over three quarters (78%) of accused in a criminal case and supporters of accused had also previously visited the court.

Travel to Court

Almost a third (31%) of respondents stated that they had travelled to court on the day of the survey as a car driver, with a further 15% stating that they were a car passenger. A quarter (25%) stated that they travelled to court by bus.

Over three quarters of respondents (78%) had travelled for up to 30 minutes to attend court. Visitors to courts in North Strathclyde and Tayside, Central and Fife seemed to have the quickest journeys when compared to other sheriffdoms.

Satisfaction with Court Staff

The majority of respondents (83%) had spoken to court staff during their visit. This ranged from 70% in Tayside, Central and Fife to 91% in South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway. Meanwhile, the majority of victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims (92%) and people visiting the public counter/fines office (94%) stated that they had had contact with court staff, with accused in a criminal case and supporters of accused (73%) the least likely to say that they had had contact with court staff.

The majority of these respondents stated that they had found court staff to be either 'very' or 'fairly' helpful (95%) and either 'very' or 'fairly' polite (96%). There was little difference in the results when disaggregated by sheriffdom and user group.

Information Provided

Fewer than half (48%) of all respondents said that, when they arrived at court, court staff explained what was going to happen and what they should do, while 16% said this was not the case. A further 36% said that it was not applicable for them to have been given an explanation. Most of those who received an explanation, however, indicated that they had found it either 'very' or 'fairly' accurate (97%).

Similarly, less than half (46%) of all respondents stated that court staff had kept them informed about what was happening during the time they were in the court building, while 20% said that they had not. A further 34% said that it was not applicable for them to have been kept informed. However, the majority of respondents (96%) who were given update information said that this information was either 'very' or 'fairly' helpful.

Summary

All jurors (both selected and non-selected) were asked if they had received any information about jury service from the SCS before they arrived at court. As many as 87% reported that they had received such information. Of these jurors, 91% stated that this information was either 'very' or 'fairly' helpful.

Only 10% of the whole sample stated that they would have liked further information from court staff. Information that respondents said they would have liked included information about when trials would start, how long they would last, and how long people should expect to be kept waiting at the court.

Satisfaction with the SCS Website

Just over a quarter (26%) of respondents said they had used the SCS website in the last twelve months. Advocates, Solicitors and Solicitor Advocates were the most frequent users of the website (92%), followed by other professionals (60%). People visiting the public counter/fines office (6%) and victims, and supporters of victims, in a criminal case (3%) were the least likely to have accessed the website in the last 12 months.

The main reason given for visiting the website was 'to obtain information on daily court business' (85%), followed by 'to obtain court addresses/phone numbers/direction to courts' (49%). The majority of respondents indicated that they found the information they were looking for on the website either 'very' or 'fairly' easy to find.

Waiting in Court

Just over half of all respondents (55%) said that they had had to wait to take part in court proceedings. Respondents who stated that they were attending court to visit the public counter were not asked this question. Around two thirds of respondents in Grampian, Highland and Islands (68%), Glasgow and Strathkelvin (65%) and North Strathclyde (60%) said that they had had to wait. Conversely, over half of the respondents in Lothian and Borders (58%) and the High Court and Court of Session (62%) said that they did not have to wait.

Responses were relatively evenly split across the four specified waiting time periods (up to 30 minutes; 31 minutes to 1 hour; over 1 hour and up to 2 hours; and over 2 hours) with regard to how long respondents had had to wait. It appears that waiting times in the High Court and Court of Session were slightly less than in any other sheriffdom.

Over half of the respondents said that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied (52%) with their wait to take part in court proceedings. A further 19% said they were either 'very' or 'fairly' dissatisfied, and 29% said they were 'neither satisfied nor dissatisfied'.

Only 12% of respondents said that they had had to wait to be served at the public counter, including the main reception. Almost all of these respondents said that they had had to wait up to 15 minutes (99%), with a majority stating that they were 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied (91%) with this time.

Those respondents who waited, either to take part in court proceedings or at a counter, were asked to specify whether court staff provided updates about how much longer they were likely to have to wait and why they had to wait. Similar proportions stated that they were given updates (40%) or were not given updates (42%) about waiting times. Meanwhile, 44% stated they were told why they were waiting, compared to 38% who said they were not told.

Summary

Almost two thirds of respondents (63%) who either had or had not been given updates about waiting times, stated that they were 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with court staffs' attempts to keep them informed about waiting times. Similarly, 65% said that they were 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with court staffs' attempts to keep them informed about why they had had to wait.

Catering and Other Facilities

Only 24% (n=580) of respondents indicated that they had used any of the catering/vending facilities in the court building on the day of the survey. The type of facility used most was a cafeteria, used by 60% of respondents.

Nearly two thirds (64%) of respondents indicated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with the range of food and drink available. However, this ranged from 46% in Glasgow and Strathkelvin to 79% in Tayside, Central and Fife.

With reference to the quality of the food and drink purchased, 70% stated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied. This ranged from 47% in Glasgow and Strathkelvin to 79% in Lothian and Borders.

The service in cafeterias was rated very positively among those who had used these facilities, with 82% stating that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied.

Other Court Facilities Used

The court room was the type of court facility most commonly used by respondents on the day that they were surveyed, followed by waiting areas, the public entrance, and the toilets.

Levels of satisfaction were high in relation to both the comfort and security of all facilities; generally over two thirds of respondents stated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with each facility used. The only exceptions were in relation to the comfort (31%) and cleanliness (55%) of the cells, the comfort of the public entrance/area outside the court building (54%) and the waiting area/area outside the court room (59%).

Perceptions of Safety and Security

New questions were included in the 2011 survey to assess the safety and security of court facilities. There was a high level of satisfaction with regard to perceived safety and security, ranging from 80% for the cells to 96% for the jury room.

Overall Satisfaction

With reference to overall satisfaction, 83% of respondents stated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied.

Results remain very positive when disaggregated by sheriffdom, with satisfaction ranging from 74% of respondents who were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied in Tayside, Central and Fife to 90% in the High Court and Court of Session.

Levels of satisfaction were similar for professional and non-professional users, with 85% of professional respondents, and 82% of non-professionals, stating that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied overall.

Service Development

Almost half (44%) of all respondents said they knew how to make a complaint or provide feedback, good or bad, about the services they had used whilst in the court building. A total of 504 respondents provided details of at least one aspect of the service provided by the SCS that they would change, while 1803 said that they would 'change nothing' or that they could not think of anything they would change.

The main suggestions by respondents who felt that there was a need for change included:

- more information and updates to be provided to them on court proceedings by court staff or on information boards;
- a generally more efficient service, resulting in reduced waiting times, including not being made to wait all day to find out they were not needed; and
- the provision of increased and improved catering/vending facilities; this included the provision of water coolers.

Key Drivers of Overall Satisfaction

To complement the descriptive statistical analyses detailed above, a Key Driver Analysis (KDA) was carried out.

This indicated that the main drivers of overall satisfaction were:

- satisfaction with court staffs' attempts to keep respondents informed about how much longer they were likely to have to wait; and
- satisfaction with helpfulness of the information provided by the court staff.

Comparisons Over Time

When comparing results from 2009 and 2011, the survey generally highlights an increase in satisfaction. Although the increase in the mean satisfaction score between 2009 and 2011 is not statistically significant, overall satisfaction has been recorded at its highest level since the survey began. Also, quality of food and drink available, comfort and cleanliness of the court room, cleanliness of the waiting areas, and the comfort of the toilets all showed a statistically significant increase in their mean scores from 2009 to 2011.

In addition, it is worth highlighting that there have been statistically significant improvements in overall satisfaction from 2009 to 2011 in Lothian and Borders and the High Court and Court of Session. This is particularly noteworthy since these two sheriffdoms have, in the past, shown some of the lowest levels of satisfaction.

As in previous years, the survey has, therefore, revealed generally positive feedback from users and a number of helpful comments which can assist the SCS to make further strides forward in meeting users' needs.

1 Introduction

1.1 Introduction

- 1.1.1 The Scottish Court Service (SCS) is a non-ministerial public body, established by the Judiciary and Courts (Scotland) Act 2008, to provide administrative support to the Scottish courts and judiciary and to the Office of the Public Guardian (OPG). It is responsible for delivering operational support to the High Court of Justiciary and the Court of Session and to sheriff courts and justice of the peace courts in over 70 locations across Scotland.
- 1.1.2 The aim of the 2008 Act, which came into being on 1 April 2010, was to ensure a more unified and independent Judiciary, to allow the SCS to identify and meet the needs of court users, and to engage effectively with other bodies within the justice system. This is set out in the SCS 2011-14 Corporate Plan¹.
- 1.1.3 SCS aims to positively build a stronger SCS and justice system by:
- improving the efficiency of internal processes;
 - maximising the opportunities offered by technology;
 - making better use of buildings;
 - developing the skills of staff; and
 - collaborating with other Justice bodies to achieve further system-wide improvements.
- 1.1.4 Given this commitment to providing a high quality service, SCS commissioned MVA Consultancy in May 2011 to conduct the latest in the series of Court User Satisfaction Surveys.

Court User Satisfaction Survey

- 1.1.5 The SCS has conducted court user satisfaction surveys of public and professional court users from 2005-09.
- 1.1.6 The survey is designed to derive a measure of court users' overall satisfaction with the services provided, and to collect data on satisfaction with individual service elements, including waiting times; comfort and cleanliness of the court building and facilities; information provided; and interaction with court staff.
- 1.1.7 This year, questions on satisfaction with the safety and security of the court buildings were also included.

1.2 Methodology

- 1.2.1 As with previous sweeps of the survey, an exit survey of all users of all courts across the SCS estate was designed to canvass views on court facilities and the various services provided. Broad quotas were applied to ensure coverage of all user groups, however, interviews were largely administered on a 'next-to-pass' basis (interviewers based at the court invited people to take part as they left the court building on the basis that the next available person was approached). Data were collected by combining interviewer administered questionnaires and self-completion questionnaires.

Survey Coverage

- 1.2.2 At least one interviewer day was allocated to each court building within the SCS estate in order to ensure the survey was representative. This involved carrying out interviews at all 49 Sheriff Courts across the six sheriffdoms, the Court of Session², the three permanent locations of the High Court of Justiciary, and 11 Justice of the Peace Courts.
- 1.2.3 Sheriffdom Legal Managers, responsible for the Justice of the Peace Courts, provided an indication of sites where footfall was likely to be insufficient to justify an interviewer presence. It was decided to concentrate days allocated to Justice of the Peace business to those courts located within specifically designated JP business buildings, rather than those convened in Sheriff Court buildings. Where Sheriff Courts and Justice of the Peace Courts were housed in the same building, the views of Justice of the Peace Court users were captured on same survey days allocated to the Sheriff Court³. This meant that, in total, 64 sites were surveyed.

Fieldwork Programming

- 1.2.4 The survey period covered nine weeks between May and July 2011. All Sheriff Clerks and Sheriffdom Legal Managers were contacted for each site to identify the most suitable fieldwork days within the allotted fieldwork period. As far as possible, this enabled fieldwork to be scheduled for days when the greatest footfall was anticipated, ensuring that opportunities for engaging with a broad mix of users were maximised throughout the survey.
- 1.2.5 A total of 113 interviewer days were scheduled, and a further eight days fieldwork were required to achieve sheriffdom quotas. Interviews were carried out in a mixture of high, medium and low workload courts. Table 1.1 summarises the number of courts surveyed which fell into each workload category.

Table 1.1 Workload of Courts Surveyed

High Workload (>1000 sitting days per annum)	Medium Workload (300-1000 sitting days per annum)	Low Workload (<300 sitting days per annum)
11	17	36

- 1.2.6 At all high workload courts, a total of four interviewer days were scheduled. Two interviewer days were scheduled at the medium workload courts, and one day was scheduled at all low workload courts. All Justice of the Peace Courts were classified as low workload courts, with the exception of Glasgow Justice of the Peace Court which was classified as a high workload court.

² The Court of Session sits in Parliament House in Edinburgh.

³ Where possible, interviewer days were scheduled for days that had both Sheriff Court and Justice of the Peace Court business scheduled.

User Profiles

- 1.2.7 Table 1.2 details the different user groups that fell within the scope of the survey. The typologies were derived from previous surveys and from other SCS intelligence⁴.

Table 1.2 Court User Typologies

Non-Professional Court Users (15)
Accused in a criminal case	Victim in criminal case
Supporter of accused	Supporter of victim
Civil litigant	Visiting public counter/fines office
Supporter of civil litigant	Witness in criminal case
Witness in civil case	Supporter of criminal case witness
Supporter of civil case witness	Spectator/tourist
Juror (selected)	Other
Juror (not selected)
Professional Court Users (21)
Advocate (senior or junior)	Reliance staff
Advocate Depute	Safeguarder
Appropriate adult	Sheriff Officer/Messenger-at-Arms

Crown junior	Social worker (or trainee social worker)
Expert witness	Solicitor (or trainee solicitor)
Interpreter	Solicitor Advocate
Police witness	Victim Support worker
Press reporter	Witness Service worker
Prison Service staff	Other
Procurator Fiscal/depute

- 1.2.8 Members of the Judiciary, SCS staff (including all contracted staff) and people aged under 16 were ineligible to take part in the survey and were excluded via a screening process.

Data Collection Instruments

- 1.2.9 Data collection instruments were consistent with those used in previous sweeps of the survey. They included an interviewer administered questionnaire and a self-completion questionnaire. Both questionnaires included the same questions and response options to allow the final data to be merged for analysis purposes, and both were designed to be completed by non-professional and professional court users. Appropriate routing (asking respondents to skip questions that were not relevant to them) was highlighted where necessary, and appropriate screening was undertaken with both versions of the questionnaires to ensure that no ineligible court users participated.

⁴ It should be noted that the typologies have been expanded since the 2006 sweep. Additional options include 'supporter of civil litigant'; 'supporter of civil case witness'; and 'supporter of criminal case witness'.

1 Introduction

- 1.2.10 Interviewer distributed self-completion questionnaires were given to respondents in the equivalent of an exit survey. Self-completion questionnaires were used only to boost the sample where appropriate. For example, when a case adjourns or ends, many individuals connected to the case may exit the building simultaneously. In these situations, it is neither practical nor desirable to interview more than one person at a time as this may introduce a bias in responses. In these situations, one respondent would complete the questionnaire with the interviewer, while other individuals would be offered self-completion questionnaires. In addition, self-completion questionnaires were also offered to professional users who wished to take part, but who were unable to do so on site (for example, because they were too busy). These respondents were offered the opportunity to take the survey form away for completion.
- 1.2.11 Those courts that had jury trials scheduled during the fieldwork period were also sent packs of self-completion questionnaires to distribute. These were distributed to a sample of jurors by court staff at each site.
- 1.2.12 The questionnaires covered:
- use of the SCS website;
 - getting to court;
 - navigation around the court building;
 - the helpfulness and politeness of court staff;
 - information provided by court staff;
 - waiting in court;
 - use of the catering facilities;
 - use of other court facilities;
 - satisfaction with all the above, and overall satisfaction;
 - service development; and
 - user profile information.
- 1.2.13 For all questions which asked respondents to indicate their level of agreement with a particular statement (for example satisfaction, helpfulness, accuracy, etc.), respondents were asked to rate their feelings on a scale of one to five (with one being the least favourable and five being the most favourable response).

1.3 Reporting Conventions and Caveats

- 1.3.1 For ease of analysis, the Court of Session and the permanently sitting High Court locations (i.e. Edinburgh, Glasgow, and Aberdeen) were clustered together and treated as if they were a seventh sheriffdom. They are referred to throughout this report as the 'High Court and Court of Session'.
- 1.3.2 Any respondents interviewed at the High Court when it was sitting on circuit have been grouped within the geographic sheriffdom of the Sheriff Court at which they took part. As most facilities used by these respondents would have been relevant to the Sheriff Court building, it was considered more appropriate to classify their responses as such, rather than within the High Court and Court of Session group. However, where services/facilities differed, for example the information provided to jurors, analysis has been conducted based on the nature of the business they were attending for, i.e. disaggregated by jurisdiction level rather than sheriffdom.
- 1.3.3 When interpreting the data it should be noted that, as the true distribution of user types across the court estate is unknown, the sample can not be considered as representative. It instead represents the range of users who engage with SCS services on one particular day.
- 1.3.4 The combination of self-completion and interviewer administered questionnaire responses for analysis purposes may affect data purity. A decision to combine the two data sources was made in the interests of ensuring overall robust samples following segmentation of the data at the user group level. Any instances where questions received a low number of responses, which prevents statistically rigorous analysis and reporting, are identified in the text. This approach was consistent with earlier sweeps of the survey.
- 1.3.5 Where no respondents have provided a response, the symbol '-' has been used in tables, and where sample sizes are below 1%, the reporting convention <1% has been used, thereby allowing the reader to differentiate between true zero values and small sample sizes.

2 Response Rate and Sample Profile

2.1 Response Rates

- 2.1.1 A total of 4344 court users were invited to participate in the survey this year. Of these, 1187 (27%) declined, and a further 252 (6%) were ineligible for the reasons outlined in Table 2.1 below.

Table 2.1 Reasons for Non-Participation

- 2.1.2 In total, 2905 useable interviews were achieved, a response rate of 67%. The breakdown of these responses by survey method was as follows:

- 2399 respondents completed an interviewer administered questionnaire;
- 319 respondents completed a self-completion questionnaire; and
- 187 respondents completed a self-completion juror questionnaire.

2.2 Sherifdom

- 2.2.1 Table 2.2 provides a breakdown of the number of interviews achieved by sherifdom. The number of interviews achieved was fairly evenly distributed between the sherifdoms, with slightly fewer interviews undertaken in the High Court and Court of Session.

⁵ Language Line is a facility for individuals whose first language is not English; it allows access to an interpreter via the telephone. Ten non-English speaking individuals were invited to take part in the survey using the language line to facilitate their participation, but this was refused in each case.

2.2.2 The total number of interviews achieved at each court is detailed in Table 2.1 (Appendix A).

2.3 User Groups

2.3.1 Around three quarters (76%, n=2196) of the respondents classified themselves as non-professionals. The reasons that non-professionals were attending court on the day of the survey are detailed in Table 2.3.

2 Response Rate and Sample Profile

- 2.3.3 A total of 709 respondents (24%) indicated that they were attending court as part of their professional/working role. Table 2.4 details the capacity in which these professional respondents were attending court on the day of the survey.

- 2.3.4 Table 2.3 (Appendix A) provide a breakdown of the 'other' reasons that professionals were attending court.

- 2.3.5 Professional court users were also asked to indicate the reasons they were attending court. A total of 613 respondents indicated at least one reason for their attendance, with some respondents indicating multiple reasons (a total of 645 responses). Three quarters (75%, n=457) of respondents stated that they were attending a criminal court. Table 2.5 provides a full breakdown of the reasons given by professional court users for attending court on the day that they were surveyed.

- 2.3.6 Table 2.4 (Appendix A) provides a full breakdown of the 'other' reasons professionals were attending court.
- 2.3.7 In line with previous sweeps of the survey, the separate user typologies were condensed into eight clustered user groups for analysis purposes (six non-professional and two professional user groups). Table 2.6 details the number and percentage of respondents in each clustered group.

Table 2.6 Number of Respondents in Clustered User Groups

2 Response Rate and Sample Profile

- 2.3.8 It should be noted that the core non-professional SCS user groups are clustered groups two, three and five above. These groups represent those whose experiences in court are most likely to reflect interaction with SCS staff and services. The experiences of non-core users are more likely to reflect factors that are more directly influenced by SCS's justice system partners.
- 2.3.9 A full breakdown of user group by sheriffdom can be found in Tables 2.5 and 2.6 in Appendix A.

2.4 Respondent Demographics

- 2.4.1 In total, of the respondents who disclosed their sex, 61% (n=1760) were male and 38% (n=1114) were female. A further 31 respondents (1%) did not provide details of their sex (refused/did not answer the question).
- 2.4.2 Table 2.7 provides a full breakdown of respondents' age groups. Just over two thirds (67%, n=1933) of respondents were between the ages of 16 and 44.

2.5 Particular Facilities

- 2.5.1 Two percent (n=60) of respondents stated that they had a longstanding illness, disability or infirmity which meant that they required particular facilities when using public buildings.
- 2.5.2 Facilities required included a lift, parking close to the entrance, and more seats/comfortable seats. Particular problems mentioned included back problems, depression, and walking difficulties.
- 2.5.3 Of the respondents who specified that they required particular facilities, almost all commented on the extent to which their requirements were met. Just over half (56%, n=31) of the respondents who answered the question (n=55) stated that their requirements were fully met, 18% (n=10) said they were partially met, and 26% (n=14) stated they were not met at all. Six respondents did not answer the question.

- 2.5.4 Those respondents who stated that their special requirements were not met were asked to explain their reasons why. The most cited reasons included lack of lift facilities, not being able to tune into the induction loop system, and uncomfortable seating in waiting rooms.

Communication and/or Reading Needs

- 2.5.5 Most respondents' first language was English (95%, n=2769) with only 4% (n=101) stating that their first language was not English. A further 35 people (1%) did not answer the question.
- 2.5.6 Almost all respondents stated that they did not have particular communication or reading requirements (98%, n=2840), with 22 respondents (1%) stating that they did, and three respondents stating that they did not know. A further 40 respondents (1%) did not answer the question. When asked what their needs were, the main responses were dyslexia and difficulties with reading/writing.
- 2.5.7 Respondents who stated they had particular communication or reading requirements were asked if they used any facilities provided by the court. Of the 15 people who provided an answer, four stated they used induction loops and three said 'interpreter for the accused'. The remaining eight respondents said they did not use any services.
- 2.5.8 Those who did use the services were asked to rate their satisfaction with these. Only some of those who used the induction loops rated this service. Of the respondents who provided a response, two were 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with the induction loop service, while two were 'very' or 'fairly' dissatisfied.

3 Attending Court

3.1 Previous Visits to the Court

- 3.1.1 Nearly three quarters (72%, n=2093) of respondents indicated that they had previously visited the court in which they were surveyed, while 27% (n=792) stated that it was their first visit. A further 20 people (1%) did not respond to this question.
- 3.1.2 Table 3.1 shows that respondents were less likely to have previously visited the High Court and Court of Session (38%, n=96) compared to courts in other sheriffdoms.

3 Attending Court

3.1.3 Table 3.2 provides a breakdown of responses by user group. Almost all Advocates, Solicitors and Solicitor Advocates (96%, n=298), and other professionals (95%, n=373) had previously visited the court in which they were surveyed. Over three quarters (78%, n=724) of accused in a criminal case and supporters of accused had previously visited the court.

3.2 Travel to Court

- 3.2.1 Almost a third (31%, n=894) of respondents stated that they had travelled to court on the day of the survey as a car driver, with a further 15% (n=423) stating that they were a car passenger. A quarter (25%, n=717) stated that they travelled to court by bus. A full breakdown of the modes of transport that respondents used to travel to court can be found in Table 3.3 below.

Table 3.3 Mode of Travel to Court

- 3.2.2 For those who stated they travelled to court by an 'other' mode of travel, the most common responses included:
- escorted from police stations (n=22);
 - from custody (n=14);
 - took the subway (n=13);
 - travelled by plane (n=8); and
 - drove or was a passenger in a van or lorry (n=6).
- 3.2.3 Looking at responses by sheriffdom, the most popular mode used by respondents in Grampian, Highland and Islands (35%, n=170), North Strathclyde (34%, n=147), South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway (42%, n=199), and Tayside, Central and Fife (34%, n=182) was car driver. The most popular mode in Glasgow and Strathkelvin (33%, n=113), Lothian and Borders (46%, n=165), and the High Court and Court of Session (40%, n=103) was travel by bus.
- 3.2.4 Looking at responses by user group, the most popular mode for travel to court for Advocates, Solicitors, and Solicitor Advocates (56%, n=174) and all other professionals (42%, n=165) was as a car driver. By bus was the most popular mode for accused in a criminal case and supporters of accused (32%, n=299) and victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims (38%, n=28).
- 3.2.5 A full breakdown of responses by user group and sheriffdom can be found in Tables 3.1 and 3.2 in Appendix A.

3 Attending Court

- 3.2.6 Respondents were then asked roughly how long their journey to court had taken. Of the 2888 respondents who were able to indicate a time, the majority had travelled for up to 30 minutes (78%, n=2235). Table 3.4 provides a detailed breakdown of all journey times provided.

Over 2 hours	69	2
Total	2888	100

- 3.2.7 By sheriffdom, visitors to courts in North Strathclyde and Tayside, Central and Fife seemed to have the quickest journeys, followed by those attending court in Glasgow and Strathkelvin, Lothian and Borders, South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway and the High Court and Court of Session. Journeys in Grampian, Highland and Islands varied more with around a third of respondents saying that their journey took up to 15 minutes (39%, n=188), and a further third or respondents saying 16 to 30 minutes (35%, n=171).
- 3.2.8 With regard to user group, generally the most frequent response was 16 to 30 minutes. A full breakdown of responses by user group and sheriffdom can be found in Tables 3.3 and 3.4 in Appendix A.
- 3.2.9 Respondents were also asked how far they had to travel to get to court. Of the 2873 respondents who answered the question, almost a third (29%, n=823) had travelled over 2 miles and up to 5 miles. This can be seen in Table 3.5.

Table 3.5 Distance Travelled to Get to Court

Over 20 miles	266	9
Total	2873	100

- 3.2.10 Almost half of the respondents in Glasgow and Strathkelvin (44%, n=151), around a third in Lothian and Borders (36%, n=127) and High Court and Court of Session (34%, n=86), and around a quarter in South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway (27%, n=127) stated that they had to travel over 2 miles and up to 5 miles to get to court on the day of the survey. A quarter of respondents in Grampian, Highland and Islands (24%, n=118) stated that they travelled up to one mile. The distance respondents travelled in Tayside, Central and Fife and North Strathclyde was more likely to vary from up to one mile to up to 5 miles.

- 3.2.11 Generally, all professionals were more likely to have travelled up to one mile to get to court that day compared to non-professionals who were more likely to have travelled over 2 miles and up to 5 miles. It is unclear, however, where respondents were travelling from – their home, place of work, or elsewhere.
- 3.2.12 A full breakdown of responses by user group and sheriffdom can be found in Tables 3.5 and 3.6 in Appendix A.

3.3 Finding Way Around the Court Building

- 3.3.1 A total of 2877 respondents specified how they found out where they needed to go when they arrived at court that day (giving 3702 responses in total). Table 3.6 shows that 46% of respondents (n=1335) had previously visited/were familiar with the building, while 44% (n=1250) had asked at the front reception.

Table 3.6 Source of Directions Upon Arrival

- 3.3.2 For those who stated that they had asked someone else, the most popular responses included:
- solicitor (n=44);
 - court staff/officer (n=34); and
 - police officer (n=8).
- 3.3.3 For those who stated 'other', the most frequently cited responses included:
- with someone who knew where to go (n=18);
 - came from custody (n=12);
 - already knew where to go (n=9);
 - work at the court (n=9);

3 Attending Court

- had checked the website (n=6); and
- wandered around until they found it (n=5).

- 3.3.4 Respondents were asked how easy or difficult it was to find out where in the building they had to go. From 2841 responses, the majority of respondents (97%, n=2742) found it either 'very' or 'fairly' easy. Only 23 respondents (<1%) stated that they found it 'very' or 'fairly' difficult, while 76 respondents (3%) stated that it was 'neither easy nor difficult' to find out where in the building they had to go.
- 3.3.5 There was little difference when the data was considered by either sheriffdom or user group, with the majority of respondents, in all cases, indicating that they found it either 'very' or 'fairly' easy to find out where in the building they had to go. Tables 3.7 to 3.8 in Appendix A provide a full breakdown of responses by user group and sheriffdom.

4 Satisfaction with Court Staff

4.1 Contact with Court Staff

- 4.1.1 Respondents were asked if they spoke to any court staff during their visit. Of the 2889 respondents who provided an answer, 83% (n=2387) stated that they had spoken to court staff, while 17% (n=502) stated that they had not.
- 4.1.2 Contact with court staff was broken down by sheriffdom and user group. In South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway most respondents (91%, n=429) stated that they spoke to court staff during their visit. Respondents in Tayside, Central and Fife were least likely to say that they had had contact with court staff (70%, n=382). This can be seen in Table 4.1.

Table 4.1 Contact with Court Staff by Sheriffdom

4 Satisfaction with Court Staff

- 4.1.3 Looking at responses by user group, over 90% of victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims (92%, n=68) and people visiting the public counter/fines office (94%, n=388) stated that they had had contact with court staff. Accused in a criminal case and supporters of accused were the least likely to say that they had had contact with court staff (73%, n=682). This can be seen in Table 4.2.

4.2 Helpfulness of Court Staff

- 4.2.1 Those respondents who stated that they spoke with court staff were asked how helpful they found them to be. Of the 2384 respondents who answered the question, the majority (95%, n=2261) stated that they had found court staff to be either 'very' or 'fairly' helpful. Only 41 respondents (2%) stated court staff were either 'very' or 'fairly' unhelpful and 82 respondents (3%) considered court staff to have been 'neither helpful nor unhelpful'.
- 4.2.2 Helpfulness of court staff was also disaggregated by sheriffdom and user group. Again, the majority of respondents in each group stated that court staff were either 'very' or 'fairly' helpful. Table 4.3 shows this breakdown by sheriffdom while Table 4.4 shows the breakdown by user group.

4.3 Politeness of Court Staff

- 4.3.1 Again, those respondents who stated they had spoken to court staff were asked how polite they were. Of the 2381 respondents who answered the question, 96% (n=2296) found court staff either 'very' or 'fairly' polite. Only 25 respondents (1%) found court staff 'very' or 'fairly' impolite, and 60 respondents (3%) said staff had been 'neither polite nor impolite'.
- 4.3.2 When looking at the responses by sheriffdom (Table 4.5) and user group (Table 4.6), the majority of respondents in each case stated that court staff were either 'very' or 'fairly' polite.

- 4.3.3 Those respondents who rated the helpfulness and/or politeness of court staff as less than satisfactory were asked to explain why. Of the 25 respondents who gave reasons, just over one third (n=9) said it was to do with the attitude of court staff which they considered rude, grumpy and/or lacking in friendliness.
- 4.3.4 Others generally said it was do with the lack of respect shown to them by court staff (n=3) or that court staff did not provide them with enough information (n=3).

5 Information Provided

5.1 Information Upon Arrival

5.1.1 Respondents were asked if, when they arrived at court that day, court staff explained what was going to happen and what they should do. Of the 2374 respondents who answered the question, almost half (48%, n=1141) said yes while 16% (n=375) said no. A further 36% (n=858) said that it was not applicable for them to have been given an explanation of what was happening or what they should do, the most common reasons being that the respondent:

- was paying a fine, visiting the public counter or visiting the court to obtain information;
- already knew what was happening or what they should do;
- was a police officer or solicitor;
- had been given an explanation about what was happening or what they should do by a solicitor; and
- was a visitor or spectator.

5.1.2 Looking at responses by sheriffdom, Table 5.1 shows that around half of the respondents in each sheriffdom stated that court staff had explained what was going to happen and what they should do upon arrival. However, just over a quarter of respondents in Glasgow and Strathkelvin (29%, n=85) and almost a fifth in Lothian and Borders (19%, n=60) said that this was not the case.

5.1.3 Table 5.2 shows that jurors were the most likely to state that court staff explained what was going to happen and what they should do (87%, n=221), followed by victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims (79%, n=53). Almost a third of accused (32%, n=219) stated that court staff did not explain what was going to happen or what they should do when they arrived at court that day. Advocates, Solicitors, and Solicitor Advocates (64%, n=160) were the most likely to say it was not applicable for court staff to provide them with information, followed by all other professionals (47%, n=162).

5 Information Provided

Accuracy of Information

- 5.1.4 Respondents who stated that court staff did explain what was going to happen and what they should do, were asked to specify how accurate the explanation was. The majority of respondents (97%, n=1090) stated that the explanation provided was either 'very' or 'fairly' accurate. Only three respondents (<1%) stated that the explanation was 'very' or 'fairly' inaccurate, while 31 respondents (3%) said it was 'neither accurate nor inaccurate'.
- 5.1.5 Table 5.3 shows that there was no variation by sheriffdom, with almost all respondents in each sheriffdom stating that the explanation provided was either 'very' or 'fairly' accurate. A full breakdown of responses by user group and sheriffdom can be found in Tables 5.1 to 5.2 in Appendix A.

5.2 Update Information

- 5.2.1 Respondents were asked if court staff had kept them informed about what was happening during the time they were in the court building. Of the 2360 respondents who answered the question, almost half (46%, n=1090) said that they had been kept informed, while 20% (n=477) of respondents said that they had not. A further 34% (n=793) of respondents said that it was not applicable for them to have been kept informed. Common reasons for this included that respondents:
- already knew what was happening;
 - were kept informed by their solicitor/lawyer;
 - were visiting or spectating;
 - were making a query at the desk; and
 - were visiting the fines office, handing in paperwork or picking/dropping off paperwork.
- 5.2.2 Over half of the respondents in Glasgow and Strathkelvin (51%, n=151), Grampian, Highland and Islands (55%, n=218), and South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway (53%, n=225) stated that court staff kept them informed. However, over a quarter of respondents in Glasgow and Strathkelvin (29%, n=85) and Lothian and Borders (28%, n=86) said that they had not been kept informed. Table 5.4 details responses by sheriffdom.

5.2.3 The majority of jurors (88%, n=221) stated that court staff kept them informed about what was happening. Additionally, over half of victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims (69%, n=46), other professionals (60%, n=205), and civil litigants, supporters of civil litigants, witnesses in a civil case, and supporters of civil case witnesses (57%, n=47) stated that court staff had kept them informed. The majority of people visiting the public counter/fines office (94%, n=360) and around half of the Advocates, Solicitors and Solicitor Advocates (49%, n=121) stated that it was not applicable for them to have been kept informed. A full breakdown by user group is provided in Table 5.5.

Helpfulness of Update Information

- 5.2.4 Respondents who were given update information were asked how helpful the information they received was. The majority of respondents (96%, n=1035) said that the information was either 'very' or 'fairly' helpful, with only 5 respondents (<1%) stating the information was 'very' or 'fairly' unhelpful, and 39 respondents (4%) stating it was 'neither helpful nor unhelpful'.
- 5.2.5 Table 5.6 shows a breakdown by sheriffdom. Responses were largely similar across all sheriffdoms, with the majority of respondents stating that they found the information provided by court staff either 'very' or 'fairly' helpful. This ranged from 93% (n=90) in the High Court and Court of Session to 98% (n=93) in Lothian and Borders.
- 5.2.6 A full breakdown of responses by user group and sheriffdom can be found in Tables 5.3 to 5.4 in Appendix A.

5.3 Information Provided to Jurors by SCS

- 5.3.1 All jurors (both selected and non-selected) were asked if they had received any information about jury service from SCS before they arrived at court. They were also asked to rate how helpful they had found this information.
- 5.3.2 Of the 294 jurors who completed the survey, 87% (n=255) reported that they had received information about jury service from SCS, while only 2% (n=6) stated that they had not. A further 33 respondents (11%) did not answer the question.
- 5.3.3 The majority of the 254 who rated the helpfulness of the information provided stated that it was either 'very' or 'fairly' helpful (91%, n=231), with only four respondents (2%) stating they found it either 'very' or 'fairly' unhelpful, and 19 (7%) stating they found the information 'neither helpful nor unhelpful'.

5 Information Provided

- 5.3.4 The information that jurors receive may differ depending on whether they attend court for High Court or Sheriff Court business. However, responses to the survey showed that both groups were similarly happy with the information they received, with 94% (n=61) of jurors attending for High Court business, and 90% (n=169) of those attending for Sheriff Court business, stating that the information provided was either 'very' or 'fairly' helpful.

5.4 Further Information Respondents Would Have Liked

- 5.4.1 Only 10% of the whole sample (n=298) stated that they would have liked further information from court staff. The overwhelming majority of responses related to receiving information about when trials would start, how long they would last and how long people should expect to be kept waiting at the court. A number of people suggested that there should also be regular updates.
- 5.4.2 Others felt that the following would be useful:
- more information regarding the whole court procedure, particularly for those who were attending for the first time;
 - more information provided to jurors on their first day and about how jurors are selected;
 - information on where an accused could find their solicitor/lawyer; and
 - information on why their friends and relatives were being kept in custody and what they had been charged with.

5.5 SCS Website

- 5.5.1 All respondents (n=2905) were asked if they had used the Scottish Court Service website in the last twelve months. In total, 26% of respondents (n=757) reported that they had.
- 5.5.2 Table 5.7 provides a breakdown of the use of the Scottish Court Service website by user group. Advocates, Solicitors and Solicitor Advocates were the most frequent users of the website (92%, n=286), followed by other professionals (60%, n=238). People visiting the public counter/fines office (6%, n=26) and victims, and supporters of victims, in a criminal case (3%, n=2) were the least likely to have accessed the website in the last 12 months.
- 5.5.3 A full breakdown of responses by user group and sheriffdom can be found in Tables 5.5 to 5.6 in Appendix A.

- 5.5.4 The 757 respondents who stated they used the website were asked to identify the reasons why they had visited the site (see Table 5.8). The main reason given for visiting the website was 'to obtain information on daily court business' (85%, n=645), followed by 'to obtain court addresses/phone number/direction to courts' (49%, n=369).

- 5.5.5 There were 64 people who said they were looking for 'other' information, most commonly this included:
- court judgements;
 - court opinions and/or publications;
 - job vacancies; and
 - case reports or case histories.
- 5.5.6 Due to the small number of respondents involved, it is not possible to disaggregate this information by either sheriffdom or user group.
- 5.5.7 Respondents were also asked how easy it was to find the information that they needed on the SCS website. The results for each reason that the website was used for are shown in Table 5.9.
- 5.5.8 The majority of respondents indicated that, for each reason, they had found the information either 'very' or 'fairly' easy to find. This ranged from 74% (n=14) for how to pay a fine or other financial penalty, to 90% (n=323) for court addresses/phone numbers, etc.

6 Waiting in Court

6.1 Waiting to Take Part in Court Proceedings

- 6.1.1 Respondents were asked if they had had to wait to take part in court proceedings. Just over half of the 2833 respondents who answered the question stated that they had had to wait (55%, n=1568). Respondents who stated that they were attending court to visit the public counter were not asked this question.
- 6.1.2 Looking at responses by sheriffdom, around two thirds of respondents in Glasgow and Strathkelvin (65%, n=221), Grampian, Highland and Islands (68%, n=308), and North Strathclyde (60%, n=259) said that they had had to wait. Over half of the respondents in Lothian and Borders (58%, n=206) and the High Court and Court of Session (62%, n=157) said that they did not have to wait to take part in court proceedings. This can be seen in Table 6.1.

- 6.1.4 Respondents who had had to wait were asked to detail approximately how long they had waited. Table 6.3 shows that responses were relatively evenly split across the four time periods.

31 minutes to 1 hour	368	24
Over 1 hour and up to 2 hours	354	23
Over 2 hours	365	24
Total	1542	100

- 6.1.5 Looking at responses by sheriffdom, it appears that waiting time in the High Court and Court of Session was slightly less than in any other sheriffdom, where again, the most commonly cited waiting time was over 31 minutes. As explained above, people here were also less likely to have to wait at all.
- 6.1.6 Looking at responses by user group, 45% (n=25) of victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims stated that they had to wait over 1 hour and up to 2 hours, while 41% (n=80) of witnesses in a criminal case, supporters of criminal case witnesses, spectators/tourists, and others had to wait over 2 hours. Among the other user groups, waiting times generally ranged from 31 minutes to over 2 hours.

6 Waiting in Court

- 6.1.7 A full breakdown of responses by user group and sheriffdom can be found in Tables 6.3 to 6.4 in Appendix A.
- 6.1.8 A total of 1541 respondents also rated how satisfied they were with their wait to take part in court proceedings. Over half of the respondents said that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied (52%, n=813) with the length of time they had had to wait. A further 19% (n=291) said they were either 'very' or 'fairly' dissatisfied, and 29% (n=449) said they were 'neither satisfied nor dissatisfied'.
- 6.1.9 Over half of respondents in Grampian, Highland and Islands (61%, n=187), North Strathclyde (68%, n=170), South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway (55%, n=126) and High Court and Court of Session (56%, n=53) stated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with the time they had had to wait. Around a third of respondents in Glasgow and Strathkelvin (31%, n=67) and Tayside, Central and Fife (34%, n=102) stated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' dissatisfied with the time they had had to wait. This can be seen in Table 6.4.

6 Waiting in Court

6.2 Waiting to be Served at a Public Counter

- 6.2.1 Respondents were asked if they had had to wait to be served at the public counter, including the main reception. Only 12% (n=342) said that they had to wait.
- 6.2.2 At sheriffdom level, Table 6.6 shows that the area where most people had to wait was Glasgow and Strathkelvin (31%, n=104).

6 Waiting in Court

- 6.2.4 Of the 342 respondents who stated that they had waited to be served at a public counter, 340 also indicated the length of time they had had to wait. Almost all respondents said that they had had to wait up to 15 minutes (99%, n=336). This can be seen in Table 6.8.

- 6.2.5 Respondents who had had to wait were asked how satisfied they were with the length of time they waited. Of the 337 respondents who answered the question, the majority said that they were 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied (91%, n=306), with only eight respondents (2%) saying they were 'very' or 'fairly' dissatisfied and 23 respondents (7%) saying they were 'neither satisfied nor dissatisfied' with the length of time they had had to wait.
- 6.2.6 Responses were broken down by sheriffdom and user group, but were generally too small for any noticeable differences to be made. A full breakdown of responses by user group and sheriffdom can be found in Tables 6.11 to 6.12 in Appendix A.

6.3 Updates from Court Staff

Updates Regarding Waiting Times

- 6.3.1 Those respondents who waited either to take part in court proceedings or at a counter were asked to specify whether court staff gave updates about how much longer they were likely to have to wait. Of the 1622 respondents who answered the question, responses were fairly evenly split among those who said they were given updates (40%, n=649) and those who said they were not given updates (42%, n=683). A further 18% (n=290) said that it was not applicable that they were given updates.
- 6.3.2 By sheriffdom, over 40% of respondents in Grampian, Highland and Islands (44%, n=144), South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway (48%, n=117), Tayside, Central and Fife (40%, n=121), and High Court and Court of Session (62%, n=55) said that court staff gave them updates about how much longer they had to wait. Almost three quarters of respondents in Lothian and Borders (74%, n=122) said that staff did not give updates; this was by far the highest number of respondents who stated this. This can be seen in Table 6.9.

6.3.3 Table 6.10 shows that over three quarters of jurors (selected and not selected) (78%, n=165) and around 60% of victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims (61%, n=36) and all other professionals (62%, n=123) said that court staff had given them updates about how much longer they would have to wait. Around half of accused in a criminal case and supporters of accused (59%, n=356) and people visiting the public counter/fines office (45%, n=33) said that staff did not give them updates.

6 Waiting in Court

- 6.3.4 Respondents who had been given information and those who indicated that they had not were asked to rate their level of satisfaction with court staffs' attempts to keep them informed about how much longer they were likely to have to wait. Generally, of the 1282 respondents who answered the question, 63% (n=807) stated that they were 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied, and only 15% (n=188) were either 'very' or 'fairly' dissatisfied. The remaining 22% (n=287) stated that they were 'neither satisfied nor dissatisfied'.
- 6.3.5 Table 6.11 shows that around 70% of respondents in Grampian, Highland and Islands (74%, n=193), North Strathclyde (72%, n=122), South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway (69%, n=145), and High Court and Court of Session (71%, n=58) were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with court staffs' attempts to keep them informed about waiting times. However, almost a quarter of respondents in Tayside, Central and Fife (24%, n=53) were either 'very' or 'fairly' dissatisfied.

6.3.6 Around three quarters of jurors (selected and not selected) (76%, n=153), victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims (71%, n=41), people visiting the public counter/fines office (77%, n=27), Advocates, Solicitors, and Solicitor Advocates (72%, n=87), and all other professionals (74%, n=128) said that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied that court staff kept them informed. Around a quarter of civil litigants, supporters of civil litigants, witnesses in a civil case, and supporters of civil case witnesses (24%, n=13) and witnesses in a criminal case, supporters of criminal case witnesses, spectators/tourists, and others (20%, n=36) and accused in a criminal case and their supporters (20%, n=91) were either 'very' or 'fairly' dissatisfied with court staffs' attempts to keep them informed. This can be seen in Table 6.12.

6.3.7 Some respondents (n=287) said it was not applicable for court staff to give them updates about how much longer they were likely to have to wait. The most common reasons were:

- the respondent was a supporter/spectator;
- the respondent was visiting the fines office;
- the respondent was given this information by their lawyer/solicitor; and
- the respondent was familiar with court proceedings, only had to wait a short time, or already knew when their case was likely to be called.

Updates Regarding Reasons for Waiting

- 6.3.8 Respondents who had waited were also asked if they were told why they had had to wait. Of the 1611 respondents who answered the question, 44% (n=717) said that they were, while 38% (n=606) said that they were not. A further 18% (n=288) said that it was not applicable that they were told why they had had to wait.
- 6.3.9 By sheriffdom, Table 6.13 shows that 70% (n=60) of respondents in the High Court and Court of Session said they were told why they had had to wait. Over half of the respondents in Grampian, Highland and Islands (52%, n=172) and South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway (52%, n=125) also stated they were told why they had had to wait. Three-quarters of respondents in Lothian and Borders (75%, n=125), however, stated that they were not told about why they had had to wait.

6.3.10 Again, around a quarter of jurors (selected and not selected) (76%, n=162) and around two thirds of victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims (69%, n=41) and all other professionals (65%, n=130) stated that they were told why they had had to wait. Around half of accused in a criminal case and supporters of accused (52%, n=313), people visiting the public counter/fines office (53%, n=38), and witnesses in a criminal case, supporters of criminal case witnesses, spectators/tourists, and others (48%, n=100) said that they were not told why they had had to wait. This can be seen in Table 6.14.

6.3.11 Some respondents (n=287) said it was not applicable for them to be told why they had had to wait at court, most commonly stating that:

- they were aware of why they had had to wait or that they should expect to have to wait;
- they were a supporter/spectator;
- their lawyer/solicitor explained to them; and
- they were visiting the fines office, visiting someone or making a query.

6.3.12 Respondents were asked how satisfied they were with court staffs' attempts to keep them informed about why they had had to wait on the day they were surveyed. Table 6.15 shows a breakdown of the 1,280 respondents who answered the question, by sheriffdom. Grampian, Highland and Islands (77%, n=204), North Strathclyde (75%, n=124) and the High Court and Court of Session (73%, n=60) had the greatest proportion of 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied respondents, while Tayside, Central and Fife had the greatest proportion of respondents who were 'very' or 'fairly' dissatisfied (25%, n=55).

7 Catering and Other Court Facilities

7.1 Use of Catering Facilities

- 7.1.1 All respondents were asked if they had used any of the catering/vending facilities in the court building on the day of the survey. Only 24% (n=580) of respondents indicated that they had used any of the facilities.
- 7.1.2 Table 7.1 provides a breakdown of the use of catering/vending facilities by sheriffdom. This shows that the highest usage of catering facilities was in Glasgow and Strathkelvin, where 36% (n=107) of respondents indicated that they had used them. Meanwhile, the lowest usage was in Lothian and Borders, where only 14% (n=42) of respondents reported using any catering facilities.

- 7.1.3 Of the 580 respondents who had used the catering facilities on offer, 525 respondents identified at least one facility which they had used. The most popular was a cafeteria, which was used by 60% (n=317) of respondents. A further 24% (n=126) had used a tea/coffee dispenser, and 14% had (n=73) had used a trolley service. Table 7.2 provides details of all the facilities used.

Total Responses	578	110

Note: Totals do not equal 100% due to multiple responses.

7.1.4 The majority of 'other' catering facilities used were specified as a "jurors' lunch".

7.2 Satisfaction with Catering Facilities

7.2.1 Respondents who had used catering facilities were asked to rate their satisfaction with the following elements:

- the range of food and drink available;
- the quality of the food and drink that they purchased; and
- where appropriate, the service provided in the cafeteria.

7.2.2 Cross-tabulations of respondents' satisfaction with these elements can be found in Tables 7.1 to 7.6 in Appendix A.

Range of Food and Drink Available

7.2.3 In total, 562 respondents who had used any catering facilities provided a rating for how satisfied they were with the range of food and drink available. Nearly two thirds (64%, n=360) indicated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied in this respect, with only 9% (n=48) stating that they were dissatisfied to any extent. The remaining 27% (n=154) stated that they were 'neither satisfied nor dissatisfied'.

7.2.4 At the sheriffdom level, Glasgow and Strathkelvin showed the lowest levels of satisfaction with the range of food and drink available, with 46% (n=48) of respondents indicating they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied.

7.2.5 The highest levels of satisfaction with the range of food and drink were recorded in Tayside, Central and Fife, followed by North Strathclyde, where 79% (n=109) and 74% (n=54) were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied respectively.

Quality of Food and Drink Purchased

7.2.6 In total, 532 respondents provided a rating for their satisfaction with the quality of the food and drink they had purchased. Of these, 70% (n=371) stated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied in this respect, while only 7% (n=36) indicated that they were dissatisfied to any degree. The remaining 23% (n=125) stated that they were 'neither satisfied nor dissatisfied'.

7.2.7 At the sheriffdom level, Glasgow and Strathkelvin again recorded the lowest levels of satisfaction with the quality of food and drink purchased, with 47% (n=49) of respondents indicating they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied.

7.2.8 Satisfaction with the quality of food and drink purchased was highest in Lothian and Borders, followed by North Strathclyde, where 79% (n=30) and 77% (n=57) of respondents were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied respectively. However, it should be noted only a few respondents had used any catering facilities in Lothian and Borders (n=42).

Service Provided in the Cafeteria

- 7.2.9 Of the 317 respondents who had used a cafeteria, 299 indicated their level of satisfaction with the service they had received. Results were very positive, with 82% (n=246) stating that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied, and only 4% (n=12) indicating that they were dissatisfied to any extent. The remaining 14% (n=41) stated that they were 'neither satisfied nor dissatisfied'.
- 7.2.10 It should be noted that the number of respondents in each sheriffdom was relatively small, ranging from 14 in Lothian and Borders to 90 in Glasgow and Strathkelvin. Therefore, disaggregated results for this question should not be regarded as reliable. However, over a third of respondents in each sheriffdom were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with the service provided in a cafeteria, ranging from 67% (n=26) in the High Court and Court of Session to 95% (n=60) in North Strathclyde.

Reasons for Dissatisfaction with the Catering Facilities

Respondents who indicated that they were dissatisfied with the catering facilities were asked to explain their reasons for this. The most common responses were as follows:

- some respondents were dissatisfied with the choice of food available, stating that there was no hot food available at the time they required (typically late afternoon) and others that there should be more healthy options, including vegetarian options;
- there was some dissatisfaction with the quality/taste of the food as well as the tea and coffee;
- some respondents felt that catering was too expensive;
- others felt that the food and/or drink was cold when they received it; and
- some made comments that catering staff were not very knowledgeable (i.e. about allergies and intolerances) or that they were unhelpful or abrupt.

7.3 Other Court Facilities Used

- 7.3.1 In total, 2884 respondents indicated that they had used one or more of the other court facilities on the day that they were surveyed. Table 7.3 details the number of respondents that had used each of the other court facilities. The most commonly used was the court room, with 70% (n=2032) of respondents indicating that they had used this, with waiting areas, the public entrance, and the toilets being the next most commonly used facilities.

Other	76	3
Total	7397	257

Note: Totals do not equal 100% due to multiple responses.

- 7.3.2 Levels of satisfaction were high in relation to both the comfort and security of all facilities; generally over two thirds of respondents stated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with each facility used. The only exceptions were in relation to the comfort and cleanliness of the cells, (where only 31% (n=37) and 55% (n=64) of respondents were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied respectively), and with the comfort of the public entrance/area outside the court building and the waiting area/area outside the court room, (where 54% (n=589) and 59% (n=661) were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied respectively).
- 7.3.3 A full breakdown of satisfaction with the comfort and cleanliness of these other court facilities by user group and sheriffdom can be found in Tables 7.8 to 7.47 in Appendix A.
- 7.3.4 Those respondents who reported that they were dissatisfied with any of the court facilities were asked to explain the reasons for their dissatisfaction. The main reasons included:
- that the seating in the court buildings was uncomfortable, predominantly highlighting that it was hard, wooden and with a lack of leg room;
 - that there was a lack of seating, both in and around the building, when waiting to go into court;
 - that the jurors' room was too small to accommodate all the jurors;
 - that the toilet facilities were dirty and/or smelly;

- that the court building in general was unclean and in need of upgrading;
- respondents would like more areas where they could have private discussions;
- that the temperature in different parts of the court buildings was considered by some respondents to be too hot and by others to be too cold; and
- that jurors should not have to walk through public areas where there may be accused and/or their families.

7.4 Perceptions of Safety and Security

7.4.1 New questions were included this year to assess the perceived safety and security of the court buildings. As such, respondents were asked to rate their levels of satisfaction with the safety and security of the various facilities that they had used on the day that they were surveyed. Table 7.4 provides a breakdown of responses for each of the facilities. It shows a high level of satisfaction across all facilities, ranging from 80% (n=90) for the cells to 96% (n=226) for the jury room. Although safety and security of the cells was rated the lowest across all facilities, a further 14% (n=16) stated that they were 'neither satisfied nor dissatisfied', and the proportions who were dissatisfied to any extent were largely similar to the other facilities.

7 Catering and Other Court Facilities

7.4.2 Table 7.5 outlines levels of satisfaction with the safety and security of each of the various court facilities at sheriffdom level. Although sample sizes are small within some of the sheriffdoms for some of the facilities, generally the majority of respondents indicated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with each individual facility across all of the sheriffdoms.

7.4.3 Lowest levels of satisfaction were recorded in Glasgow and Strathkelvin for the witness room, the cells and the toilets, each recording 71%. Meanwhile, of those sheriffdoms and facilities where sufficient sample sizes were achieved, the highest levels of satisfaction were with the safety and security of the court room in Lothian and Borders and North Strathclyde (both 96%), and with the public entrance/area outside of the court building and the toilets in Lothian and Borders, (again 96% respectively).

7.4.4 Tables 7.47 to 7.67 in Appendix A provide detailed breakdowns of satisfaction with safety and security of each of the other facilities by sheriffdom and user group.

8 Overall Satisfaction

8.1 Overall Satisfaction with the Scottish Court Service

8.1.1 All respondents were asked to rate their overall satisfaction with the services provided by the SCS on the day of the survey. Of the 2877 respondents who provided a rating, 83% (n=2386) stated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied, with only 5% (n=132) stating that they were dissatisfied to any extent. Table 8.1 provides a breakdown of responses.

Table 8.1 Overall Satisfaction with SCS

Fairly Dissatisfied	81	3
Neither Satisfied nor Dissatisfied	359	12
Fairly Satisfied	907	32
Very Satisfied	1479	51
Total	2877	100

8.1.2 Figure 8.1 indicates a year on year increase in overall satisfaction since 2007. It should be noted, however, that the sample profiles have varied across each survey year which may account for some of the variation in satisfaction scores.

8.2 Overall Satisfaction by Sheriffdom

- 8.2.1 Results remain very positive when disaggregated by sheriffdom (see Table 8.2). Satisfaction ranged from 74% (n=401) of respondents who were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied in Tayside, Central and Fife to 90% (n=228) in the High Court and Court of Session. This is in contrast to the results in previous years, where satisfaction was often lowest in the High Court and Court of Session.

- 8.2.2 The differences in satisfaction between the sheriffdoms may have been influenced by the varying proportions of professional and non-professional respondents interviewed in each sheriffdom.

8.3 Overall Satisfaction by Core User Group

- 8.3.1 Levels of satisfaction were similar for professional and non-professional users, with 85% (n=587) of professional respondents, and 82% (n=1799) of non-professionals, stating that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied overall. Table 8.3 provides a full breakdown of responses by these core user groups, while Table 8.1 in Appendix A provides a breakdown by all eight clustered user groups.

8.4 Service Development

- 8.4.1 For those respondents who indicated that they were dissatisfied to any extent with the overall service provided by the SCS on the day of the survey (n=132), a new question was included this year to identify if this dissatisfaction had, in any way, been driven by any of the following personal protected characteristics:
- disabilities;
 - ethnic origin;
 - sex;
 - gender reassignment;
 - religious beliefs;
 - sexual orientation;
 - age;
 - marital/civil partnership status; and
 - pregnancy or need to breastfeed a baby.
- 8.4.2 Responses were, however, restricted to merely repeating general dissatisfactions with the SCS (discussed below) or facilities (discussed above). This either indicates that dissatisfaction was not impacted by any individuals' experiences related to their personal protected characteristics, or that this particular question was not well understood by the respondents (although this did not seem to be an issue during the pilot for the survey and field staff did not report any misunderstanding on behalf of respondents).
- 8.4.3 All respondents were asked if they knew how to make a complaint or provide feedback, good or bad, about the services they had used whilst in the court building. Of the 2877 respondents who provided an answer, 44% (n=1264) indicated that they did know, whilst 54% (n=1542) stated they did not know. The remaining 2% (n=71) stated that they were unsure/did not answer the question. (A full breakdown is provided by user group and sheriffdom in Tables 8.3 to 8.4 in Appendix A).

- 8.4.4 Respondents were also asked if there were any aspects of the service provided by the SCS that they would change. A total of 504 respondents provided details of at least one aspect of the service that they would change, while 1803 said that they would 'change nothing' or that they could not think of anything they would change.
- 8.4.5 The main suggestions by respondents who felt that there was a need for change included:
- more information and updates to be provided to them on court proceedings by court staff or through information boards (n=163). Within this group at least eight respondents suggested electronic information displays within courts/waiting areas;
 - a generally more efficient service, resulting in reduced waiting times (n=131), including not being made to wait all day to find out they were not needed; and
 - the provision of increased and improved catering/vending facilities (n=58); this included the provision of water coolers.
- 8.4.6 Other suggestions that were mentioned by fewer respondents included:
- additional or more comfortable seating at locations within and outside court buildings (n=38), specifically additional seating in waiting areas (n=10) and jurors' rooms (n=5) and more comfortable seating within court rooms (n=5);
 - improved (n=6) and/or cleaner (n=18) cells;
 - improved acoustics in the court room (n=14);
 - improved waiting areas (n=13), which included more space and entertainment such as a television;
 - improved parking facilities (n=9);
 - improved (n=9) and/or cleaner (n=7) toilet facilities;
 - improved jury rooms; normally a request that they are larger as they often cannot comfortably accommodate the amount of people using them (n=7);
 - court buildings being outdated and in need of refurbishment (n=5); and
 - increased and improved private interviewing facilities (n=4).
- 8.4.7 Other themes to emerge, which were not as easily quantifiable were:
- to separate the accused, witnesses and jurors so that they are not in the same waiting areas or entering/exiting the court building through the same door; and
 - to have more friendly and informative court staff.

9 Key Driver Analysis

9.1 Key Drivers of Overall Satisfaction

- 9.1.1 To complement the descriptive statistical analyses detailed above, a Key Driver Analysis (KDA) was carried out.
- 9.1.2 This year, the main predictor of overall satisfaction was satisfaction with court staffs' attempts to keep respondents informed about how much longer they were likely to have to wait. This accounted for 33% of variance in overall satisfaction.
- 9.1.3 The second factor influencing overall satisfaction was helpfulness of the information provided by the court staff, accounting for a further 8% of variance.
- 9.1.4 A further three factors also had a minor influence, each accounting for <1% of variance, which were:
- helpfulness of the court staff;
 - court staffs' attempts to keep respondents informed about why they had to wait; and
 - accuracy of the explanations provided by court staff.
- 9.1.5 Together, these five factors account for 42% of variance in overall satisfaction.
- 9.1.6 The statistical relationships between any other of the remaining variables and the overall satisfaction score were too weak for them to be included in the statistical relationship.
- 9.1.7 This year, due to the separation of questions regarding waiting to take part in court proceedings and waiting to be served at a public counter, it was also possible to include respondents' satisfaction with the waiting times for both of these elements in the KDA. When these two variables are added to the KDA, the main predictor of overall satisfaction becomes satisfaction with waiting times to be served at a public counter, accounting for 26% of variance. This is then followed by the helpfulness of the information provided by court staff (accounting for a further 7% of variance), and satisfaction with court staffs' attempts to keep respondents informed about how much longer they were likely to have to wait (accounting for a further 5% of variance). In this situation, these three variables combine to explain 36% of variance in overall satisfaction.

10 Changes Over Time

10.1 Introduction

- 10.1.1 This chapter compares the main user satisfaction variables between the results of the 2009 survey and the results this year.
- 10.1.2 Data from all courts in the SCS estate at the time of the surveys have been included in the analysis. The unification process to introduce Justice of the Peace Courts throughout the SCS estate had been complete by the time of the 2011 survey; therefore, all sheriffdoms now contain Justice of the Peace Court users. Due to the staged nature of the unification process, however, only four sheriffdoms had unified at the time of the 2009 survey and therefore only four of those surveyed sheriffdoms contained Justice of the Peace Court users within their sample. The other two sheriffdoms had not unified and, therefore, the 2009 data in this analysis does not include any Justice of the Peace Court users. This difference in sample structure should be borne in mind when reading the comparisons provided for these two sheriffdoms which were:
- North Strathclyde; and
 - South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway.
- 10.1.3 All key satisfaction and service delivery questions were analysed, including:
- overall satisfaction;
 - ease of finding out where in the building respondents had to go;
 - helpfulness and politeness of court staff;
 - accuracy and helpfulness of information provided;
 - satisfaction with attempts by court staff to keep respondents informed about how much longer, and why, they had to wait;
 - satisfaction with various elements of catering facilities; and
 - satisfaction with the comfort and cleanliness of court rooms, waiting areas, and the toilet facilities.
- 10.1.4 The user profiles were weighted to the average within each sheriffdom to ensure the sample populations were comparable in each survey year. Only differences which were significant at the 95% confidence interval level are reported here in detail.
- 10.1.5 All of the 5-point satisfaction scales were converted to an average satisfaction score (using a score of 1 for least satisfied, up to 5 for most satisfied). The resulting average satisfaction level can therefore be used to detect changes anywhere across the satisfaction range.

10.2 Weighting

- 10.2.1 There is no way to know the true population (i.e. the actual number) of court users using the SCS services in any given year, since this data is not recorded by the SCS and is also, inevitably, dependent on the type of business that is transacted, the composition of which varies on a daily basis in response to external demand. Therefore, it is impossible to weight the sample of court users each year to any known population so as to ensure that the sample is completely representative.

- 10.2.2 It is possible, however, to generate a pseudo-population based on the average sample characteristics from across the various sweeps of the survey (i.e. 2009 and 2011). The resulting profile can then be used to weight data from each year to negate sample variations between sweeps. This makes comparison more reliable than it would be if raw data from the two years were used, since the variation in sample profiles may bias the ratings achieved for the main performance variables. Ensuring that the sample in each year is weighted so that all user groups are equally represented across the years makes comparative analysis more robust.
- 10.2.3 Although the 2009 report detailed satisfaction scores, these are not necessarily the same as those calculated here due to the different years' data included in the weighting factor. Further, it would not be accurate to append the results of any other previous surveys to these results, both due to the different years involved in creating the weighting applied, and due to the differences in the sample structures created by the introduction of Justice of the Peace Courts.
- 10.2.4 Comparisons within sheriffdom between years, which will illustrate any changes in individual sheriffdoms over time, requires a 'user group within sheriffdom weight' to be generated. When disaggregated by sheriffdom, the number of respondents in some user groups were too small in individual years to permit weighting. Therefore, to generate this weighting factor, further clustering of the user groups was required. The resulting combinations of user groups are shown in Table 10.1.

Table 10.1 Clustered Typologies for 'User Group within Sheriffdom' Weighting

Clustered User Groups
1	Accused in a criminal case and supporters of accused
2 & 3	Civil litigants, supporters of civil litigants, witnesses in a civil case and supporters of civil case witnesses, and Jurors (selected and not-selected)
4 & 6	Victims in a criminal case and supporters of victims, and Witnesses in a criminal case, supporters of criminal case witnesses, spectators/tourists, and others
5	People visiting the public counter/fines office
7	Advocates, solicitors and solicitor advocates
8	All other professionals

- 10.2.5 User groups 2, 3 and 5 are considered as core users, however, these were not grouped into one category as it was considered that those attending for civil business or jury service would, for example, have different experiences to people visiting the public counter. The experiences of those in user groups 1, 4 and 6 are also impacted upon by people external to the SCS, such as solicitors, victim and witness support, etc. Again, however, these could not be grouped into one category as victims' and witnesses' experiences in court would be very different to that of the accused.

10.3 Aggregate Analysis

- 10.3.1 User profiles were weighted to the average profile across the two sample years to account for the variation in each year's sample populations.
- 10.3.2 Table 10.2 shows the (weighted) mean satisfaction scores for each of the key variables in each survey year. Only those variables that are highlighted show any statistically significant changes between the years. All others show no statistically significant changes.

Table 10.2 Total Sample: Mean Scores 2009 and 2011

Satisfaction Variable	Mean Score
	2009	2011
Overall Satisfaction	4.24	4.27
Ease of finding out where in the building to go	4.74	4.78
Helpfulness of court staff	4.72	4.74
Politeness of court staff	4.77	4.82
Accuracy of information provided by court staff	4.67	4.67
Helpfulness of information provided by court staff	4.68	4.71
Helpfulness of information for jurors provided by SCS	4.59	4.54
Satisfaction with attempts by court staff to keep respondents informed about how much longer they had to wait	3.78	3.73
Satisfaction with attempts by court staff to keep respondents informed about why they had to wait	3.79	3.80
Range of food and drink available	3.69	3.86
Quality of food and drink purchased	3.78	3.96
Service in the cafeteria	4.23	4.32
Comfort of court room	3.86	4.04
Cleanliness of court room	4.46	4.61
Comfort of waiting areas	3.50	3.59
Cleanliness of waiting areas	4.34	4.46
Comfort of the toilets	3.70	3.83
Cleanliness of the toilets	4.17	4.12

- 10.3.3 In summary, the mean satisfaction score increased from 3.78 in 2009 to 3.96 in 2011 for the quality of food and drink purchased. With regard to comfort of the court room, the mean increased from 3.86 in 2009 to 4.04 in 2011. For the cleanliness of the court room, the mean increased from 4.46 in 2009 to 4.61 in 2011. Satisfaction with the cleanliness of waiting areas increased from 4.34 in 2009 to 4.46 in 2011. Additionally, satisfaction with comfort of the toilets increased, with the mean rising from 3.70 in 2009 to 3.83 in 2011.
- 10.3.4 There were only few observable 'decreases' in satisfaction, and none of these were statistically significant.

10.4 Within Sherifffdom Analysis

- 10.4.1 As with the aggregate analysis, the user profiles were weighted to the average within each sherifffdom to ensure the sample populations were comparable across the survey years. The results for each sherifffdom are dealt with here in turn.
- 10.4.2 This section highlights and discusses only those variables that show a statistically significant difference between the mean scores from 2009 and 2011 at the 95% confidence level.
- 10.4.3 Sample sizes were too small for the following variables across all sherifffdoms, in either/both years, and so they were not included in the following analysis:
- helpfulness of information provided to jurors by SCS; and
 - satisfaction with the service in the cafeteria.
- 10.4.4 Further, only those variables with a sample size of $n=100$ or greater in each year have been included in the following analysis. Those variables with small sample sizes (i.e. $n < 100$) in one or more years have not been included as the response rates were not considered high enough to be reliable. The variables with small sample sizes vary between sherifffdoms.

Glasgow and Strathkelvin

- 10.4.5 Table 10.3 shows the (weighted) mean satisfaction scores for each of the key variables in each survey year for respondents within the Glasgow and Strathkelvin sheriffdom. Only those variables that are highlighted show any statistically significant changes between the years. All others show no statistically significant changes.

Table 10.3 Glasgow and Strathkelvin: Mean Scores 2009 and 2011

Satisfaction Variable	Mean Score
	2009	2011
Overall Satisfaction	4.19	4.10
Ease of finding out where in the building to go	4.65	4.62
Helpfulness of court staff	4.69	4.63
Politeness of court staff	4.72	4.70
Accuracy of information provided by court staff	4.52	4.60
Helpfulness of information provided by court staff	4.67	4.67
Satisfaction with attempts by court staff to keep respondents informed about how much longer they had to wait	3.84	3.58
Satisfaction with attempts by court staff to keep respondents informed about why they had to wait	3.85	3.70
Comfort of court room	4.14	3.96
Cleanliness of court room	4.66	4.54
Comfort of waiting areas	3.85	3.12
Cleanliness of waiting areas	4.54	4.09
Comfort of the toilets	3.29	3.17
Cleanliness of the toilets	3.81	3.49

- 10.4.6 Only comfort and cleanliness of waiting areas and showed any statistical difference from 2009 to 2011 in Glasgow and Strathkelvin. The mean score for comfort of waiting areas decreased from 3.85 in 2009 to 3.12 in 2011. For cleanliness of waiting areas, the mean score decreased from 4.54 in 2009 to 4.09 in 2011.

Grampian, Highland and Islands

10.4.7 Table 10.4 shows the (weighted) mean satisfaction scores for each of the key variables in each survey year for respondents within the Grampian, Highland and Islands sheriffdom.

Table 10.4 Grampian, Highland and Islands: Mean Scores 2009 and 2011

Satisfaction Variable	Mean Score
	2009	2011
Overall Satisfaction	4.52	4.41
Ease of finding out where in the building to go	4.75	4.77
Helpfulness of court staff	4.80	4.82
Politeness of court staff	4.84	4.86

Cleanliness of waiting areas	4.79	4.74
Comfort of the toilets	3.82	4.04
Cleanliness of the toilets	4.63	4.48

10.4.8 No variables showed statistically significant differences in the mean scores in Grampian, Highland and Islands between 2009 and 2011.

Lothian and Borders

- 10.4.9 Table 10.5 shows the (weighted) mean satisfaction scores for each of the key variables in each survey year for respondents within the Lothian and Borders sheriffdom. Only those variables that are highlighted show any statistically significant changes between the years. All others show no statistically significant changes.

Cleanliness of waiting areas	3.49	4.39
Comfort of the toilets	3.40	4.14
Cleanliness of the toilets	3.64	4.46

- 10.4.10 In Lothian and Borders, there was an increase in the mean scores for a number of variables when looking at satisfaction levels in 2009 and 2011. The mean score for overall satisfaction increased from 3.78 in 2009 to 4.07 in 2011.
- 10.4.11 Both helpfulness and politeness of court staff also increased with the mean score for helpfulness of court staff increasing from 4.63 in 2009 to 4.84 in 2011, and the mean score for politeness of court staff increasing from 4.71 in 2009 to 4.94 in 2011.
- 10.4.12 Satisfaction with comfort and cleanliness of the court room, waiting areas, and the toilets also increased in 2011 from 2009 figures. The mean score for the comfort of the court room increased from 3.06 in 2009 to 3.55 in 2011, while the mean score for cleanliness of the court room increased from 3.60 in 2009 to 4.39 in 2011, a significant increase. The mean score for comfort of waiting areas increased from 2.86 in 2009 to 3.21 in 2011, while the mean score for cleanliness of waiting areas increased from 3.49 in 2009 to 4.39 in 2011, another significant rise in satisfaction. Satisfaction with the comfort of the toilets also increased shown by an increase in the mean score from 3.40 in 2009 to 4.14 in 2011, mirrored by satisfaction in the cleanliness of the toilets shown by an increase in the mean score from 3.64 in 2009 to 4.46 in 2011.

North Strathclyde

10.4.13 Table 10.6 shows the (weighted) mean satisfaction scores for each of the key variables in each survey year for respondents within the North Strathclyde sheriffdom.

10.4.16 From the 2009 and 2011 data, no variables show statistically significant differences in the mean scores in South Strathclyde, Dumfries and Galloway.

Tayside, Central and Fife

- 10.4.17 Table 10.8 shows the (weighted) mean satisfaction scores for the key variables in each survey year for respondents within the Tayside, Central and Fife sheriffdom. Only those variables that are highlighted show any statistically significant changes between the years. All others show no statistically significant changes.

Cleanliness of waiting areas	4.19	4.08
Comfort of the toilets	3.61	3.72
Cleanliness of the toilets	4.07	4.02

- 10.4.18 Satisfaction increased for ease of finding out where in the building to go from a mean score of 4.81 in 2009 to 4.90 in 2011. Satisfaction decreased, however, for accuracy of information provided by court staff, shown by a fall in the mean score from 4.59 in 2009 to 4.39 in 2011.

High Court and Court of Session

- 10.4.19 Table 10.9 shows the (weighted) mean satisfaction scores for the key variables in each survey year for respondents within the High Court and Court of Session. Only those variables that are highlighted show any statistically significant changes between the years. All others show no statistically significant changes.

Comfort of the toilets	3.91	4.11
Cleanliness of the toilets	4.44	4.28

- 10.4.20 Overall satisfaction for the High Court and Court of Session increased from 2009 to 2011, shown by an increase in the mean score from 4.26 in 2009 to 4.51 in 2011.
- 10.4.21 The mean score for comfort of court room increased from 3.77 in 2009 to 4.09 in 2011, while the mean score for cleanliness of the court room increased from 4.34 in 2009 to 4.58 in 2011.

11 Summary

- 11.1.1 The results of the 2011 survey, the first full survey since court unification took place, has generally provided positive results. The majority (83%) of respondents stated that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with the overall service provided by the Scottish Court Service, a slight increase from the previous survey undertaken in 2009. The mean score in 2011 also increased, from 4.24 in 2009 to 4.27 in 2011 (on a scale of one to five where one is 'very dissatisfied' and five is 'very satisfied').
- 11.1.2 Results remain very positive when disaggregated by sheriffdom, ranging from 74% of respondents who were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied in Tayside, Central and Fife to 90% in the High Court and Court of Session. This is an improvement in overall satisfaction for the High Court and Court of Session when compared with previous years where, often, this sheriffdom scored amongst the lowest in this respect.
- 11.1.3 Encouraging results are also provided when broken down by core user group, with similar levels of satisfaction for professional and non-professional users, with 85% of professional respondents, and 82% of non-professionals, stating that they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied overall.
- 11.1.4 Likewise, most respondents (generally over 95%) were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied with each of the key service elements, with the exception of attempts by court staff to keep respondents informed about how much longer and why they had to wait, where only around two thirds of the respondents stated they were either 'very' or 'fairly' satisfied.
- 11.1.5 When comparing results from 2009 and 2011, the survey generally highlights an increase in satisfaction. At the aggregate level, as detailed above, the mean score for overall satisfaction increased between these two years. Additionally, the range of food and drink in the cafeteria, service in the cafeteria, and comfort of waiting areas, in particular, have shown noteworthy increases in satisfaction with the mean scores rising significantly from 2009 to 2011.
- 11.1.6 Further, at the sheriffdom level, although three sheriffdoms showed no statistically significant changes in levels of satisfaction, the remaining four sheriffdoms show increases in satisfaction with regard to at least one key service element. Lothian and Borders in particular saw an increase in mean scores for a number of service elements over the two years.
- 11.1.7 Overall satisfaction improved from 2009 to 2011 in Lothian and Borders and High Court and Court of Session and this is perhaps one of the most interesting findings from the survey since these two sheriffdoms have, in the past, shown some of the lowest levels of satisfaction. The other sheriffdoms showed no statistically significant change in overall satisfaction, but did maintain high levels of overall satisfaction.
- 11.1.8 As in previous years, a number of helpful comments have been provided which can assist SCS in making even further strides forward in meeting users' needs. These mainly relate to reduced waiting times in court, being kept better informed of reasons for waiting and likely time people have to wait, and improving some of the facilities in specific court buildings to improve the overall comfort of the court experience.
