

COURT OF SESSION

PRACTICE NOTE

No. 1 of 2014

Sittings of the Inner House

1. This Practice Note has effect from 22 April 2014.
2. From the abovementioned date, Judges sitting in the Inner House will, ordinarily, no longer wear wigs and judicial robes. Where this is the case the court will not insist that counsel should appear with wig and gown or that solicitors with rights of audience should appear with gowns.
3. Where the court intends to wear wigs and judicial robes, for example at ceremonial sittings of the court, practitioners will be informed accordingly.
4. This Practice Note does not affect existing custom and practice in the Outer House or in the High Court of Justiciary.

Brian Gill

Lord President

Edinburgh
16 April 2014