

Important message regarding court judgments and RSS feeds

Key work is planned to the judgment section of the SCTS website on the morning of Tuesday 27 May 2025.

People with RSS feeds and similar notifications that alert them when new judgements are posted are advised to disable these features at this time. This is because the work could result in an extremely high number of notifications being sent.

The update is due to take place between 08:00 and 13:00. No actual current court judgments will be posted during this time.
